

How to Create Online Fundraising Page

Personal Fundraising

Enter the Fund Information

You are the Coordinator of this fund. If this is an Honorary or Memorial fund, the person to whom you are paying tribute is the Honoree. After you create your fund, your Tribute Web Page will be immediately available on the Web. You can then access a special Tribute "Champion" Center to customize your Web page, as well as create and send emails about your fund. You acknowledge that you have received permission to use a third party's name in the creation of your fund (if applicable).

The Fund Type determines the information you must supply for this fund. For an Honorary fund, you will be asked for the name and contact information of the Honoree. For a Memorial fund, you will be asked for the name of the fund Honoree plus the name and contact information of a Next of Kin representative of the Honoree. For a Personal fund, you will not be asked for Honoree or Next of Kin information.

Your Fund Page:

The Fund Name will be the Title of your fund page. Using a descriptive label (such as the name of the fund Honoree) will help people find your fund when they search for it. Note that you can edit this Name from the Champion Center.

The Fund Description will display with the fund name in search results to help distinguish this fund from other funds with similar names. You can enter small details about the Honoree (for example, city of residence, a nickname, or family name). You can edit this later in the Champion Center.

Enter Fund Description:

A fund page that is private does not display in search results. Only those people to whom you send a link or know the URL of your page will be able to view your fund page if you mark it private.
